

Everything you want to know about the new Bachelor's programs
at the Faculty of Education - Helwan University
Academic Year 2023/2024

Program

English Language Teacher for International

Special fee-based program with a credit-hour system

and Language Schools

Vice Dean for Education and Student Affairs
Prof. Dr. Wael Ramadan Abdel Hamid

Dean of the Faculty
Prof. Dr. Hossam Hamdy Abdel Hamid

Program Vision:

To prepare a teacher proficient in English language skills, capable of teaching in English in line with modern developments.

Program Mission

The program aims to prepare English language teachers through the theoretical, practical, and applied foundations of the English language. Graduates will possess strong linguistic competencies and effective communication skills, qualifying them for the teaching profession. They will apply the latest technological methods and techniques for teaching English and be able to teach the language in advanced and sophisticated ways.

What You Need to Know About the English Language Teacher Program for International and Language Schools

- The program accepts high school graduates according to the admission score for the Faculty of Education at Helwan University, in addition to meeting the faculty's internal standards and requirements.
- The program is based on a credit-hour system. Students study 150 credit hours over four academic levels, comprising eight semesters.
- The courses fulfill the requirements for specialized preparation, educational preparation, cultural preparation, and field training.
- The courses are divided into compulsory and elective courses. The credit hours per academic level range between 18 and 19 credit hours.
- The program awards a Bachelor of Arts and Education degree (English Language Teacher for International Language Schools).

The program also offers graduates opportunities to work in:

- Teaching English as a Foreign Language in international and language schools
- Research and educational centers related to teaching, learning, and evaluating English
- Translation to and from English
- Tourism and guiding
- Providing educational and professional counseling

Why the English Language Teacher Program for International and Language Schools - Faculty of Education, Helwan University?

- The program achieves excellence and a competitive advantage for the faculty, as such a program is not available in all faculties of education at Egyptian universities.
- The program allows for field visits and training in international language schools during the course of study.
- The program opens channels of communication with the American University in Cairo, the British Council, and English language teaching development centers.
- The program raises language proficiency in Arabic and the foreign language, contributing to language and cultural awareness.
- The program strives to produce a distinguished graduate: a researcher and thinker, creative, knowledgeable in their field of specialization, capable of problem-solving, communicating and interacting with others, and accepting and respecting opinions.

... For contact and inquiries

Program Coordinator

Prof. Dr. Manal Farouk

Faculty of Education - Helwan University - Ain Helwan - Helwan - Cairo

0225541845 - 0225552067

Telephone and Fax

info@edu.helwan.edu.eg

Email

<http://www.helwan.edu.eg/edu>

Website